

Justice Sunday 2005

the first observance of the

2005 National Day of Recruitment

Honor Dr. King

by serving this present age

Dear _____: I don't know your name, but Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. once said that everybody could be great because anybody could serve. He said that you didn't have to have a college degree to serve. He said that you didn't have to make your subject and verb agree to serve. He even said that you only needed a heart full of grace and a soul generated by love. You look like you might qualify.

January 16, 2005

Become a mentor of a youth or adult
Visit our website to find out more

<http://www.nraa-nabcj.org/>